Dear IAN participant,

I am writing to invite you to participate in study in which I am collecting the stories of parents raising children with autism. If you choose to participate, you will respond to a brief series of questionnaires on-line and write your story using a web-based interview. Completing the procedure will probably take about two hours. Upon receiving your responses, I will send you a small thank you in the form of a $30 gift certificate to amazon.com. If you have questions that you would like to ask me before participating, please feel free to write to me at rconti@colgate.edu.
